If such matter is not resolved within a maximum of ninety (90) calendar days from such suspension of service then this Agreement is to be deemed as terminated ipso jure in view of a material breach of obligations on the part of the Customer and the Customer will be deemed as having renounced to any title to or possession of any equipment placed in the Data Centre Floors, or of any equipment belonging to the Service Provider that may have been placed at the Customer's premises, and the Service Provider may proceed to resume possession of such equipment, and to dispose of or, otherwise, utilise same in any manner at the Service Provider's discretion in order to obtain satisfaction of its credit against the Customer, as the case may be, without such resumption being in any manner deemed or interpreted as being an act of spoliation in regard to the Customer and this without prejudice to the right to claim any arising damages and/or any dues then outstanding in terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall also, unless otherwise specified at Law or pursuant to a lawful order by any competent Authority unilaterally, remove, erase and destroy all Customer Content upon taking possession or re-possession of the said equipment.
